Protect Physician Income With Platinum Advantage From The Standard[‡]

Physicians see firsthand how often an injury or illness can occur and they can be especially at risk of an injury or illness impeding their ability to work.

One in four 20-year-olds will become disabled before age 67.¹

Approximately 91% of disabilities are caused by illness.²

1 in 4 adults with disabilities have an unmet healthcare need because of cost in the past year.³

Did you know that more than one third of The Standard's individual disability insurance, or IDI, policies are sold to doctors? In fact, we designed Platinum Advantage Individual Disability Income Insurance with physicians in mind.

Features like the Own Occupation Rider and the Student Loan Rider provide a first-class IDI policy for your physician clients.

Platinum Advantage includes strong core benefits that can help protect a physician's income in case they're unable to work due to an injury or illness.

Own Occupation Coverage for Physicians

The Own Occupation Rider offers the strongest definition of disability for specialized physicians. Under this rider, policyowners who become disabled and can't perform the duties of their medical specialty can qualify for benefits — and earn a full income in another occupation without offsetting their benefits.

How It Works

The Platinum Advantage policy's base definition of total disability requires policyowners meet three criteria to receive benefits. They'll receive full monthly benefits if, due to injury or illness, they are:

- Unable to perform the substantial and material duties of their regular occupation
- Under the regular care of a physician appropriate for their injury or illness
- Not engaged in any other job or occupation for wage or profit

If your clients become disabled, their current occupation(s) at the time of disability will be considered their regular occupation.

The Own Occupation Rider changes the policy's definition of total disability. It removes the last requirement — not engaged in any other job or occupation for wage or profit.

Consider these real-life examples of claims paid under the Own Occupation Rider:

Occupation	Diagnosis	Alternative Occupation	Benefits
Hospitalist	Multiple orthopedic issues	File Reviewer	Full Total Disability Benefits
Ophthalmologist	Stroke	Pathologist	Full Total Disability Benefits
Anesthesiologist	Nerve injuries to foot	Pain Management	Full Total Disability Benefits

Residual Disability Riders

Residual riders for individual disability coverage provide benefits proportional to loss of income and may be payable if a policyowner is still able to perform some level of work.

Basic Residual

Available to all occupation classes except A and B
Benefits for first six months will be at least 50% of the policy's basic monthly benefit

Insured must show a loss of income and either a loss of time or duties during the waiting period and the benefit period

Recovery Benefit included; requires the insured to return to the same occupation

Designed for:

Most medical residents and fellows

People who would find the premium savings meaningful compared to Enhanced Residual

Enhanced Residual

Available to all occupation classes except 2A, 2P, A, B
Benefits for first 12 months will be at least 50% of the policy's basic monthly benefit

Insured is residually disabled during benefit waiting period if they have a loss of time or duties or income; therefore, they could satisfy waiting period with no earnings loss

Recovery Benefit included; allows the insured to return to the same or different occupation

Designed for:

People who may not show an earnings loss upon losing some time or duties (e.g., medical practice owners, etc.)

Reason: They could satisfy waiting period despite showing no earnings loss

People in specialized work

Reason: Insured is not required to return to their regular (or same) occupation to be eligible for Recovery Benefit

Why do clients need a Residual Disability Rider?

Clients may benefit when you add the appropriate residual rider to our very strong base contract. With any Residual Disability Rider, insured customers can feel confident about returning to work part time and still qualifying for a benefit.

Protect Student Loan Payments¹

Under the Student Loan Rider, The Standard will reimburse policyowners for their monthly student loan payments if they suffer a total disability and are unable to work. Applicants can choose a monthly benefit – any amount between $100 and $2,500 – and either a 10- or 15-year term.

By adding this rider to a policy, your clients can help shield themselves from the possibility of defaulting on their student loan if they're unable to work due to illness or injury. You can help them choose the monthly benefit amounts and terms that match their obligations. For example, if an applicant has a total student loan debt obligation of $100,000 and pays approximately $1,000 a month, help them determine if a 10- or 15-year term is the right option.

How It Works

- The Student Loan Rider pays a monthly benefit in addition to the basic monthly benefit to reimburse student loan payments. It's based on the amount of coverage purchased and monthly student loan amounts.
- The benefit is in addition to issue and participation limits.
- The rider is available to occupation classes 3P/3D and higher.
