

Making a Difference — Apart, but Together

2020 Community Engagement Report

2020 – A Year of Challenge and Change

Last year tested us all.

The global pandemic and economic disruption hit people and communities hard. Historically, our company and our employees have always been committed to making a difference for those in need, and even though the challenges we faced were more substantial, 2020 was no exception.

The Standard was founded in 1906 in Portland, Oregon, on a simple premise — be there for those who rely on you. Today, we're a financial services company that helps millions of customers achieve financial well-being and peace of mind thanks to the expertise and compassion of our employees.

We're in the business of helping others, and not just our customers. For more than 115 years, The Standard has strengthened our communities by finding ways to care for our friends and neighbors. And in 2020, those friends and neighbors needed a little extra support.

Last year saw deep and lasting ramifications from the pandemic, historic wildfires on the West Coast and a renewed focus on actively addressing racism. In this Community Engagement Report, you'll learn more about how The Standard and our employees responded to these and other issues with commitments of time, energy and funding.

You'll also read about the record-breaking results from our annual Employee Giving Campaign as even in midst of a health crisis and deep uncertainty, our employees donated at unparalleled levels.

We were all tested by 2020, but we learned something important — we can rise to any challenge so long as we work together, even when we're apart.

And on the topic of change, as we're finalizing this report celebrating the many ways The Standard and employees supported our communities in 2020, we have some news to share about a change at our company.

After 42 years at The Standard and 12 years as CEO, Greg is retiring in July 2021. We're proud to announce that Dan McMillan, who has been with the company for 32 years, will take on the role of CEO. Dan is an exceptional leader and uniquely able to build on and extend our legacy of caring about others.

Thanks for your interest in The Standard and how we support our communities.

COVID-19 RESPONSE

2020 was a year like no other as people around the world coped with the devastation and challenges of a pandemic, and it was certainly one of the most difficult times we've faced in our company's history. The Standard's response to the COVID-19 crisis was shaped by the compassion and expertise of our employees and our financial strength. In February 2020, the company activated its emergency operations center to guide planning and execute an effective pandemic response focused on:

- Safeguarding the health of employees
- Protecting business operations to continue providing excellent customer service
- Supporting community partners with flexible funding and innovative volunteer activities to meet increased need

Community Response

The Standard Charitable Foundation contributed $250,000 to the Oregon Community Foundation's Oregon Community Recovery Fund. In addition, the foundation made $25,000 grants to the Greater Cincinnati Foundation, Westchester Community Foundation and United Way of Central Virginia, aligning charitable support to communities in which we have a large employee presence.

These organizations designated funds for the immediate and longer-term needs of their communities in crisis. The Oregon Community Recovery Fund worked to rapidly deploy resources to organizations at the front lines of the coronavirus outbreak, focusing on filling the gaps in funding not met by the public or private sectors during the crisis including:

- Addressing the increased need for child care during school and day care closures
- Supporting hard-hit small businesses before federal relief funds were available
- Addressing isolation of seniors and others because of social distancing requirements
- Providing educational opportunities for kids during school closures

The Standard also teamed up with member companies of the Oregon Business Council and Oregon Business & Industry to encourage other companies to join us in providing direct relief. Together, the companies raised more than $2.3 million for the Oregon Community Foundation.

Customer support

At The Standard, our purpose is to help people achieve financial well-being and peace of mind. Throughout the global health crisis, our resolve to be there for people when they need us most has not wavered. Our customers faced tremendous stress and uncertainty in 2020, and we continued to provide support and stability to those who relied on our products and services.

As part of that effort, The Standard created a virtual COVID-19 Resource Center that provided:

- Answers to common questions for each of our products
- Information about the U.S. paid leave landscape and employment law
- Behavioral health resources for employers to better support employees struggling during the pandemic

The Standard worked with customers and clients to offer support and accommodations through relaxed claims submission requirements and extended benefit coverage while holding benefit plan rates flat and offering premium grace periods where needed or requested. Additionally, The Standard continued to look for ways to alleviate burdens regarding benefit plan administration and claims so small business owners could focus on what matters most — their employees and customers.

DIVERSITY and INCLUSION/RACIAL JUSTICE

Following the murder of George Floyd and other examples of racial injustice in recent years, there is no question that historic conversations on race, racism and justice have been taking place in homes, governments and businesses across the country.

At The Standard, we know that our work on diversity and inclusion is a journey, and in 2020, we made even more progress. As a company, we have challenged ourselves to listen closely to employees, customers, neighbors and community leaders to better understand racial injustice and to take steps to dismantle it.

Our overall approach to diversity and inclusion has three components:

- Education to raise awareness and engagement
- Internal strategic investments to advance diversity and a sense of belonging at The Standard
- External partnerships focused on positive change in our communities

Education

The Standard Diversity and Inclusion Steering Committee was formed in 2015, composed of senior leaders from many areas in the company. In early 2020, the company charged the steering committee to deepen our diversity and inclusion work with employees and managers.

The committee ensures the work is aligned with The Standard's overall business strategy and helps standardize practices within our Human Resources and talent acquisition teams that support and accelerate efforts to meet our goals.

The committee also creates strategic accountability for results, offers governance and oversight on diversity efforts, and promotes companywide communication on progress.

Many of our employees choose to give back by joining company-sponsored employee resource groups. ERGs bring together like-minded people who want to make a difference in specific areas that benefit our company and our community. Members organize educational and cultural events that help raise awareness about issues and topics relevant to their group's focus. The Standard currently sponsors eight ERGs:

- Celebrating Racial and Ethnic Diversity, or CRED: Honoring the diverse heritage and cultural backgrounds of the employee community at The Standard.
- Green Team: Promoting business practices and employee actions that further efforts to create a sustainable future for our company, our community and our environment.
- Money$mart: Inspiring employees of The Standard to meet their financial goals.
- Parents Working Together: Valuing people collaborating, sharing parenting resources and celebrating family milestones.
- Partners in Mind: Supporting mental health and well-being through awareness, education and building community.

- The Standard Employees Recognizing Veterans, or SERV: Supporting veteran employees and their family members.
- StandOUT: Cultivating LGBTQ inclusion and belonging at The Standard and in the community.
- Women's Career Network: Offering members opportunities to foster personal and professional growth through networking events, educational seminars and community volunteer opportunities.

These groups are employee-led, with assistance and sponsorship from senior leadership, and they support The Standard's diversity and inclusion efforts by:

- Demonstrating the company's commitment to foster an inclusive work environment
- Creating an open forum to exchange ideas
- Promoting inclusion, openness and understanding
- Giving employees opportunities to network, develop leadership skills and become known within the organization
- Offering professional development opportunities
- Increasing involvement in the communities where we live and work

Internal strategic investments

The Standard has renewed its focus on diversity and inclusion with training for employees and managers on recognizing unconscious bias, eliminating micro-messaging and building an inclusive team. Some examples include:

- Leading Inclusively — Leadership development program for employee resource group leaders.
- Leading in an Equity Movement — Training for Diversity Steering Committee members presented by the leadership team from KairosPDX — a nonprofit organization focused on delivering excellent, equitable education to underserved children, their families and their communities.
- Ignite Inclusion — Live webinars for all employees to help participants understand what is really meant by inclusion along with strategies to nurture it, tactics that can lead to a greater sense of belonging across teams and tips for responding to acts of exclusion.
- Stand By Me — Live webinars for all employees focused on allyship and strategies to actively call out inequities.
- Talking Race — Small group workshops for all managers focused on how to create space for conversations with team members about racial issues, recognize and address common pitfalls, and develop an authentic structure for dialogue.
- eLearning modules — Available to all employees for independent study:

- Micro-Messaging: Seemingly trivial words and actions that can cause exclusion.
- Knowing Me, Knowing You: Creating a judgment-free work environment.
- Minus the Bias: How common mental shortcuts may influence decision-making.
- The In-Crowd: Simple tricks and tips to bridge the “us-versus-them” mentality.

External partnerships

The Standard is also strengthening relationships with several national Black-led and community-based organizations focused on racial justice, economic empowerment, housing justice and diverse storytelling. Some examples include:

- Announced in 2020, multiyear funding for anti-racism partners National Urban League and various local Urban League and NAACP chapters.
- During 2021, sponsorship of Expressions in Black TV segments airing on the local NBC affiliate and Oregon Public Broadcasting that document the Black experience in Oregon from a Black perspective.
- In 2020, fundraising through The Standard’s signature Jeans Days program that raised more than $500,000 for five Black-led nonprofit organizations focused on racial justice, education and economic empowerment.

The Standard has committed multiyear sponsorship in support of the Portland Business Alliance’s Black Economic Prosperity Agenda. Answering a call to action by the PBA’s Black board members, the PBA is building a 10-year strategic plan to further policy and community decisions that improve the prosperity and resilience for Black businesses and residents in the greater Portland region.

Partners in Diversity, an affiliate nonprofit of the Portland Business Alliance Charitable Institute, recently released its findings and recommendations for employers in the Workforce Diversity Retention Project. The project’s objectives include:

- Better understanding why professionals of color move to Oregon and southwest Washington and then all too frequently leave the region.
- Developing ways to support professionals of color in the workplace and in the community.
- Helping employers improve strategies to retain diverse talent.

As a corporate sponsor of Partners in Diversity, The Standard is actively participating in the project and identifying takeaways that will work for both the region and our company.

In October, The Standard sponsored an event focused on housing justice with our 2018 Jeans Days partner, Habitat for Humanity Portland Region. This free virtual event explored the root causes of racial disparities in housing and wealth, how these inequities negatively affect the Black community and tactics to support home ownership and wealth creation.

Supplier Diversity

The Standard is committed to offering meaningful opportunities for qualified diverse vendors to compete for business through our supplier diversity program. We recognize that buying products and services from businesses that reflect the demographics of our markets contributes to the sustainability of communities and customers as well as The Standard.

The Standard is a proud member of the Northwest Mountain Minority Supplier Development Council, Women’s Business Enterprise Council Pacific, and the National LGBT Chamber of Commerce.

VOLUNTEERING – APART, BUT TOGETHER

In 2008, The Standard established the Leo Award program in honor of our founder, Leo Samuel. Each year, the company recognizes four employee volunteers — nominated by their peers and determined by popular vote — who embody the community spirit of our founder. Winners receive a cash award, and The Standard also makes a donation to the nonprofit they serve. The program provides increased visibility for nonprofit organizations along with well-deserved recognition for the many employee volunteers who devote countless time and energy to these organizations.

In 2020, we honored these four exceptional employee volunteers:

Barbara Aloni
Sisterhood of Salaam Shalom

Amy Malagamba
Meals on Wheels People

Brian Weeks

Ben Werner

Employee stories

Big Brothers Big Sisters Columbia Northwest — Beyond School Walls

Since 2018, The Standard has partnered with Big Brothers Big Sisters Columbia Northwest on the Beyond School Walls program. The program is a partnership that brings youth mentees, or “Littles,” into workplaces of adult mentors, or “Bigs.” It is specifically designed to connect youth with opportunities to learn about the business world and build caring mentor relationships with adults.

The 2020 – 2021 school year brought new challenges as Beyond School Walls transitioned to a virtual program. But the Bigs and Littles persevered and continued to connect with virtual group mentoring sessions and one-on-one video chats with parents, children, volunteers and match-support specialists.

Meals on Wheels People — Friendly Chat program

For more than 12 years, The Standard has supported Meals on Wheels People, a nonprofit organization that serves more than 8,000 nutritious meals each weekday to seniors across Multnomah, Washington and Clark counties in the Portland-Vancouver metro area. In response to the COVID-19 crisis, MOWP adapted its service delivery model to ensure vulnerable seniors could safely receive healthy meals while still adhering to strict social distancing measures.

To decrease the loneliness and social isolation for homebound seniors, Meals on Wheels People created the Friendly Chat program, which invites volunteers to call seniors for a chat once a week.

Several employees at The Standard have been volunteering to make these calls since the program began.

Children’s Book Bank — virtual book drive

In August, three employee resource groups — Celebrating Racial and Ethnic Diversity, Parents Working Together and StandOUT — partnered to coordinate a virtual book drive for Children’s Book Bank. CBB is a Portland-based nonprofit whose mission is to fill children’s homes and lives with engaging books to help them develop the literacy skills they need to succeed in school. More than 60% of the preschoolers CBB serves come from communities of color, yet less than 4% of the books donated to CBB each year feature diverse characters.

In 2015, CBB launched “A Story Like Mine” to bridge the gap between the need for diverse representation in the books they distribute — including race, culture, varied abilities, sexual orientation, gender identity and family structure — and the number they receive as donations. To date, the program has given more than 20,000 inclusive books to 5,000 families.

The goal of the drive was to donate 250 bundles of four books each — 1,000 books total — that feature inclusive representation for kids in need. Employees of The Standard stepped up to donate more than 2,800 books, nearly tripling the goal.

COMMUNITY IMPACT PROGRAMS

2020 Employee Giving Campaign

The Employee Giving Campaign — a signature event at The Standard — encourages employees and retirees to give to the causes they care about. In 2020, the EGC was transformed to a completely virtual event. During the three-week campaign in the fall, The Standard matches employee contributions to any eligible nonprofit or school dollar for dollar up to $5,000, and for the 2020 campaign our parent company, Meiji Yasuda, offered a second match.

Inspired by the generosity of employees who made donations throughout the year to nonprofit organizations in response to the pandemic, calls for racial justice and wildfires, the matching timeframe in 2020 was opened for all giving from March 15 through Oct. 2.

Even with unprecedented challenges, the 2020 EGC was another record-setter. After the matches from The Standard and Meiji Yasuda, we raised $5.9 million for 2,200 schools and nonprofit organizations.

GIVE HOPE

The top 10 donation recipients were:

1. Self Enhancement, Inc. — $315,000
2. Oregon Food Bank — $214,000
3. Transition Projects — $97,000
4. National Urban League — $88,000
5. Oregon Humane Society — $75,000
6. Ronald McDonald House Charities of Oregon and Southwest Washington — $60,000
7. American Red Cross — $56,000
8. Oregon Public Broadcasting — $48,000
9. Habitat for Humanity Portland Region — $47,000
10. Planned Parenthood Columbia Willamette — $46,000

Jeans Days program

Started in 2006, the program allows employees to wear jeans and casual shoes at work in exchange for a $100 donation, and those funds are pooled, matched and sent to designated Jeans Days partners. During the last 15 years, employees have raised more than $4.5 million for Jeans Days partners around the country.

With most employees working from home in 2020, dressing for work took on a much different meaning. But the spirit of the program has never really been just about the jeans — it's about employees of The Standard coming together to make a transformative contribution to our Jeans Days partners. And in 2020, Jeans Days participants embraced the goal of making a difference together, raising more than $500,000 for these five Black-led organizations focused on racial justice, education and economic empowerment:

- Self Enhancement, Inc. — Portland, Oregon
- Envision Children — Cincinnati, Ohio
- Jubilee Family Development Center — Altavista, Virginia
- National Urban League — New York, New York
- Urban League of Westchester — White Plains, New York

Virtual Volunteer Expo

The Standard held its 12th annual Volunteer Expo on Sept. 10, but it was unlike any of the previous 11 years. With the need for continued physical distancing, the Volunteer Expo in Portland moved from the bricks of Pioneer Courthouse Square to online.

Representatives from 100 nonprofits were available to answer questions and help connect online visitors to volunteer opportunities and other ways to support their organizations. The high point of the day was The Standard taking over the local ABC affiliate's lifestyle show — AM Northwest — which invited viewers to learn more about volunteerism as well as some of the community partners participating in the Virtual Volunteer Expo.

The reimagined event also yielded a new volunteer website, which is available year-round to help employees and members of the public who want to share their skills and passion find safe volunteer opportunities in their community.

Dollars for Doers program

Established in 1985, this program allows employees to direct funding to the organizations where they volunteer through grants from The Standard. In 2020, 15 employees requested and received grants for their favorite nonprofits, strengthening the partnership between employee volunteers and the community organizations they value. In 2020, these nonprofits received Dollars for Doers grants:

- Battle Ground Drama Club Boosters
- Boy Scouts of America, Cascade Pacific Council
- Century Mat Club
- David Douglas Aquatics Club
- Friends of the Columbia Gorge
- Friends to the Forlorn Pitbull Rescue
- Golden Bond Rescue of Oregon
- Newberg Animal Shelter Friends
- Northwest Queer Chorus
- Partners in Careers
- Playworks
- Portland Gay Men's Chorus

- REACH Community Development
- Rex Putnam High School Music Boosters/ Drumline
- Sunshine Pantry
- Young Entrepreneurs Business Week

Nonprofit board training

The Standard expects officers to serve on at least one civic, school or nonprofit board throughout their career, and training opportunities are available for all employees interested in developing the expertise to be a successful board member. In 2020, nearly 20 employees took advantage of the company's annual board training, and nearly 50 of our senior leaders served on nonprofit or civic boards.

CORPORATE GIVING

At The Standard, our success is built on strong products and services as well as compassionate employees whose expertise helps move our customers forward. Not surprisingly, our corporate giving reflects the culture of caring that defines our company. Employees partner with the company to find ways to make a difference and support our communities through corporate giving and grants. The philosophy behind our charitable giving is shaped by the same attributes that help make us a leading provider of financial services: integrity, commitment and always doing the right thing. Through our corporate giving program, we support organizations that align with four focus areas:

Cultural development

Arts and cultural organizations play a major role in vibrant communities. The Standard supports organizations that offer multicultural art programs and provide enhanced access for the underserved. Specifically, we fund and encourage programs that build audiences and promote the arts through education, interactive media and artistic excellence.

Disability and empowerment

Our business is about helping people overcome hardships and empowering success, and disability insurance is one of our core products. The Standard supports organizations that help people with disabilities thrive independently and overcome barriers to social and economic success. We also support programs that provide relief during transition to independent living.

Education and advancement

The future health and well-being of our communities is in the hands of children who are the workers, innovators, leaders and artists of tomorrow. We fund organizations that foster strategic learning initiatives to better prepare children for success, emphasizing programs that strengthen the quality of education including early childhood learning and workforce development.

Healthy communities

Strong, vibrant communities are a critical source of security for all residents. We fund organizations that provide training and rehabilitation to individuals and families facing significant challenges. We also fund programs that help individuals and families develop capabilities to increase self-sufficiency.

Wildfire relief

The Standard's home state of Oregon and much of the West Coast experienced historic wildfires in 2020. With more than 800,000 acres burned in Oregon alone, thousands lost their homes and hundreds of thousands were evacuated. Sadly, this devastation came at a time when our communities were already dealing with overwhelming need because of the global pandemic.

The Standard donated $25,000 in immediate relief support to the Red Cross and other nonprofit partners on the ground supporting individuals directly affected by these fires.

Each year, the Portland Business Journal brings the business community together to celebrate the value of businesses and nonprofit organizations partnering to meet community needs. The Standard was proud to be honored alongside our peers with a Corporate Philanthropy Award in the enterprise business category (companies with more than $100 million annual revenue).

Human Rights Campaign Corporate Equality Index — perfect score
